Our transmission side cover kits are the only kits in the industry with exact fitment and are the most complete kits available too. Transmission side cover kits include the bearing housing, side cover, speed sensor, oil filler for Touring Models and additional transmission boss for Dyna models 2006 and later. Late model Evo transmissions all basically share the the same transmission side cover but have subtle differences which change fastener fitment. Some model Harley's have exhaust mounts that bolt to the bearing housing, some do not. Dyna models have a stud for exhaust mounting and later model transmissions have an additional boss relocated to the transmission. These and several other applications are all addressed in our kits for exact fitment for your model.
